www.BULeanCourse.com

This intense one-week Lean Healthcare Certificate Program for Supply Chain Professionals will give participants a hands-on, learn-by-doing experience applying Lean philosophies and tools in a healthcare supply chain environment.

This course is based in reality — not theory. You will use actual data and case studies from our instructors' vast experience actually doing the work, focusing on issues and pressures that you experience every day. You will learn Lean supply chain techniques by managing a realistic healthcare simulation designed by our instructors.

Through this course, you will learn practical, yet powerful techniques such as flow and pull replenishment to implement starting on your first day back. Hospitals find they can dramatically increase nurse and ancillary services staff time with patients and reduce inventory through these proven techniques.
